

In recent rulings the FCC has defended its decisions by stating that it supports a free market. This is preposterous position if in fact it also limits access to the number of companies/people that can broadcast. Rule in favor of allowing more low-powered FM stations.